

ABOUT US

Quality Home Health (QHH) is a family-owned, NDIS-registered provider of supports and services to Logan City and surrounds, including home care, centre-based skills development programs, and support coordination, with views to soon expand into plan management and disability accommodation. Our mission is to support and empower individuals to make choices that enrich their lives. We envision a society that is fairer and more inclusive of people with a disability.

In-Home Supports

QHH provides support for individuals at home and in the community. Our services and supports are personalised to each participant to help them meet their goals. We will match you with a support worker who is professional, caring and has the appropriate skills to suit your needs.

Centre-Based Programs

Our centre-based programs aim to provide opportunities for people with disability to learn practical and soft skills required for independent living. Each program is run in small groups and tailored to participant goals.

The current programs are:

- Health and Wellbeing
- Domestic Skills
- Supported community access
- Employment readiness
- Literacy and Numeracy

Support Coordination

Our support coordinators can assist you to understand and implement your NDIS plan. QHH support coordinators are highly trained professionals who specialise in assisting participants to connect with mainstream, NDIS and community supports that align with your plan goals. We pride ourselves on ensuring participants are empowered to exercise choice and control over the supports they access, and we assist you to learn skills to be more independent in coordinating your services.

In-Home Accommodation

At QHH, we know that the ability to access services and programs around the community is vital for your health and happiness. We offer Community Nursing Care in their home to participants with a high level of needs, as well as transport supports like driving to appointments or helping you learn how to use public transport on your own. Our staff are friendly and professional, and always keep the participant's needs and comfort at the forefront of their minds. Call us today!
